

On This Side Of The Sun

BY PHAT

EARL GRAY of the Rainbow Room believes that his piano player, Sil Silverman, has an apology coming from The Desert Sun, or maybe it's Gray who needs the apology. Anyway, last week in a large ad announcing the reopening of the room after renovation, these two lines appeared, right together:

SIL SILVERMAN AT THE PIANO
ENLARGED AND COMPLETELY REDECORATED

On behalf of the ad man I'd like to say that Silverman, although looking very nice, has not been completely redecorated. As to the enlarged part, I wasn't here last year, so I'm not going to stick my neck out and come out flatly that he hasn't been.

UP AT the rationing board they got quite a jolt this week. A confident Negro woman entered and announced that since she had a government job, she would like to get four tires and four tubes. The astounded clerk said: "Why, we only have two tires and two tubes for the entire city of Palm Springs!" "That's all right, boss," came the reply. "I'm working in the kitchen at the army hospital for the government and I'll just take those two you got now and come back for the others later." ... The records do not reveal whether she got them.

I HAD a fine one-man campaign all planned to have all private garages so built that no one would have to back out. ... One thing auto manufacturers haven't done is to eliminate that blind spot when backing. ... Probably thousands are injured, too many of them fatally, by backing cars. ... So I thought that if you eliminate backing, you eliminate the accidents. ... But Harry Fishbeck of the House of Murphy has a much better scheme. ... He has rigged up a device attached to the gear shift. Wires connect the switch with the battery and a buzzer at the rear of the car. ... When a driver goes into reverse the buzzer buzzes and who ever isn't looking, looks and gets out of the way. ... His device costs about 25 cents. My idea of moving all of the garages and tearing up the drive-ways would come a little higher. ... So I'll yield to Fishbeck and respectfully call the attention of E. Ray Cato of the highway patrol and Chief of Police Lyle J. Sanard, to the invention. ... It should be on all autos.

"Well," she said after reading last week's copy of The Desert Sun, the first issue with which I had anything to do. "You certainly made the dust fly down at Palm Springs!" I was grateful, believing she meant I had been busy, at least, relatively so. ... "Yes, the dust must have been thick when you pulled that old bromide off the shelf. My best friend and severest critic, That's probably what Anthony called Cleopatra. But I don't care what you call me as long as it isn't 'the little woman'. If you refer to me that way, driving up here from Palm Springs would just be a waste of gasoline and tires."

PALM SPRINGS really is different.

Dr. A. D. Wilson Will Take Over Office Of Captain Staley

What threatened to be a critical shortage of medical men in Palm Springs this season was in a large part alleviated this week when it was announced that Dr. A. D. Wilson of Banning, who has been making daily visits to Palm Springs, will take over the offices and practice of Dr. P. A. Staley at 664 North Palm Canyon drive.

Dr. Staley was recently commissioned a captain in the army medical corps.

Dr. Wilson will remain here "for the duration" and until Captain Staley returns.

Captain Staley, who was in the village this week, closing up his affairs, will leave September 14 for the air base gunnery school at Las Vegas, Nevada, from which base he will be assigned to his permanent post. Mrs. Staley and the two Staley children will remain here.

POSEY IN CITY

Harris Posey, Palm Springs manager for Bullock's department store, was in Palm Springs this week preparing for the opening of the season here.

Traffic Law Holiday Over Warns Chief

Strict Enforcement From Now on, Will Be the Rule Here

Watch your step, watch the color of the curb markings, keep your eye on the signs denoting time zones and DON'T barge through boulevard stop signs, turn in the middle of the block, swoop to the right or dart to the left without giving the proper arm signal.

The summer vacation season is over and the holiday from strict traffic regulation is at an end.

Chief of Police Lyle J. Sanard this week announced that from now and henceforth, all the rules of the road must be observed and violations will bring appropriate justice.

SIGNS ARE PAINTED

Curbs have been painted and signs marked, telling you where you may park and where parking may cost you something.

If the curb is painted red, avoid it. Don't park there at all. A yellow-painted curb means a loading and unloading zone for commercial vehicles. Avoid that also if you plan to park. The white paint on the curb indicates a zone for unloading passengers such as before a hotel. Don't put your car there, carefully lock the doors and go away and leave it. Or else—

Green zones, such as before the post office and civic offices, mean you may park ten minutes, no longer.

ASKS CO-OPERATION

Where the curb is unpainted, the upright signs tell you how long you may park. One hour in some instances, two hours in others. Where there is no paint on the curb, no signs, or perhaps even no curb, let your conscience be your guide.

Chief Sanard asked the co-operation of all citizens in observing school safety regulations. He asked that motorists observe the 15-mile speed limit in school zones when children are at recess or school is being assembled or dismissed. He also urged drivers to respect the rights of pedestrians in pedestrian lanes and to stop and yield the right of way. And he asked pedestrians to use the safety lanes and avoid jay-walking.

HOLIDAY IS ENDED

From now on, traffic regulations will be observed, said the chief. During summer months, a certain laxness was permitted, but that is all ended now.

Paint has been applied to curbs and pedestrian lanes. The center stripe will not be painted because of the scarcity of white paint, but stay on your own side, said the chief.

"Enforcement of all traffic regulations is as of today," said Chief Sanard. "The police ask your co-operation to save lives and to prevent injuries."

Regular Services To Start Sunday at Community Church

Regular services will be resumed at the Community Church next Sunday morning, Dr. John R. McCartney announced this week.

Sunday school will convene at 9:45 a.m., with Clyde Smith in charge. Regular preaching service will be held at 11 a.m. The theme of Dr. McCartney's sermon will be "Open the Gates of the Temple."

Mrs. Claude Gottbehust, director of the choir, will be in charge of the music.

Druggist Homer King In Monrovia Hospital

Homer J. King, widely known Village druggist, is in a Monrovia hospital for a rest and observation this week. Mrs. King went to the Foothill city Thursday to visit him.

Length of his stay there is indefinite, but his many friends here hope he will be back again soon.

Marines Call A. E. Bailey to Active Duty

City Manager Will Leave for Phoenix Thursday Morning

The war made new inroads into Palm Springs official circles this week when City Manager R. E. Bailey was ordered to report for physical examination at the Phoenix, Ariz., marine corps recruiting station on September 18. Mr. Bailey, a first lieutenant in the U.S.M.C. reserve, received notification Tuesday of this week that he had been assigned to active duty. He will leave Palm Springs by motor for the Arizona city next Thursday morning.

Lieut. Bailey underwent a thorough marine corps physical test in Los Angeles a few weeks ago and was notified recently that he was eligible for shore duty.

FOR ACTIVE SERVICE

If he passes this second test next week in Arizona, he will report to the commanding officer at the Quantico marine base in Virginia for active service.

As he will still be here when the city council meets in adjourned session next Wednesday, no action on a successor to act as city manager during his absence will be taken until then.

IN GOOD SHAPE

With Mayor Frank Shannon and City Councilman C. P. Adams, Mr. Bailey is on a committee investigating action taken by other cities in regard to leaves of absence of city employees and officials caused by the call to colors. This committee will report Wednesday.

With the city's affairs in good shape, the city manager is of the belief that no hurried action need be taken next week but that a satisfactory formula can be worked out.

Remember—Final Registration Day Is September 24

Judge Guy Pinney of the local court, reminded Palm Springs residents today that September 24 is the last day on which to register for the November 3 general election.

Those who failed to vote at either of the major elections in 1940 must re-register. Any who have changed address must register again.

Registration books are open at the Chamber of Commerce with Mrs. Bertha Carter in charge.

Post Office Figures Showed Vastly Increased Summer Business Locally

Receipts for Summer Months 200 Per Cent Higher Than Last Year; August Like May

Additional proof that Palm Springs has had an unusually busy summer and of increased business due to the bringing here of the Torney General hospital was furnished this week by Postmaster R. M. Gorham, who said that the local postoffice was one of the few showing an increase in business over last year.

He also reported that post office receipts here this August were comparable with the usual figures for May.

RECEIPTS UP 200 PER CENT

Receipts this summer were approximately 200 per cent greater than during last summer, he said.

All over the nation, postal receipts started decreasing last December 7. Postmaster Gorham said this is a usual trend during war times. But, he added, that while the general trend continued downward during the past few months, Palm Springs' postal receipts turned upward.

Another interesting effect of the war upon the United States post office was recounted by Mr. Gorham. Usually, he said, when business declines, personnel de-

HEY, LADY, PLEASE SNAP INTO IT!

Women to Man Gas Pumps and Taxicabs Here

"Hey, lady, snap into it! I'm in a hurry!" That phrase will apply equally well when hailing a Yellow Cab his winter or stowing away a supply of gasoline.

For the Tanner Motor Livery, Palm Springs branch, and the local Standard Oil station, are both advertising for women workers.

Cecil H. Isenagle, head of the Tanner Motor Livery here, has advertised for women drivers for the Yellow Taxicab service in Palm Springs. The armed services and defense plants have taken most of his available men and women will be needed to man the fleet of taxis here. He will engage between 12 and 14 women drivers, he said.

He is receiving applications at the local office, 1090 North Palm Canyon Drive. Only stipulation is the applicants must be more than 21 years of age and experienced drivers.

Over at the Standard Oil station at Palm Canyon Drive and Amado Road, C. E. LaRue, manager, said that the call to arms and defense industries had depleted his man power and that the station would have to hire women to handle the sales.

"They'll do everything but change tires and yank out batteries," he said. "They'll sell gas and oil, wash the windshields, check the tires and batteries—in fact, all that the usual service station attendant does but the real hard labor."

Applicants for the job must be between 21 and 35 years of age.

Work of Repairing Hotel Cahuilla Fire Damage Is Started

Wrecking crews were busy at the Cahuilla hotel, 1743 North Palm Canyon drive, this week, removing the scars of a fire which on August 25 swept the main building and wings, completely gutting the interior and destroying most of the contents.

Work of repairing the structure will start immediately, according to Mrs. George W. Wagner. Pollock and Brown have the contract, under supervision of the General Insurance Company, and a permit for $10,000 to cover repairs was issued at the city hall this week.

SPECTACULAR BLAZE

The flames which raged through the unique Indian type hotel, made a spectacular display and kept Fire Chief William Leonzio and his men busy for many hours. Smoldering roof insulation called the firemen back to the scene of the blaze twice during the day.

The main structure and two wings, which form a "U", contain about 45 rooms, contents of most of which were damaged by fire and water. Because of wartime conditions it had been impossible to store scores of woolen blankets for the summer and these will be difficult to replace.

READY BY JAN. 1

It is believed the Cahuilla hotel will be ready for reopening by the end of the year.

The management is this week busy preparing the bungalows in the two fore units which escaped the fire, for occupation and is getting the hotel's private pool ready for the season.

The bungalows and pool will be ready within a few days, it is believed.

Two Palm Springs Roads Included in Recommendations

*Two highways of vital importance to Palm Springs were included in recommendations for submission to the state highway department when members of the highway committee of the county chamber of commerce and the state chamber of commerce met last night in Riverside.

The two local thoroughfares on which action is asked are the by-pass road to the east of Palm Springs which would reduce the distance on U.S. Highways 60, 70 and 99 between Banning and Indio and the improvement of State Highway 111 between Palm Springs and Indio.

Last night's Riverside meeting was called to consider budget recommendations to be made to the state chamber of commerce which will meet to consider highway matters in Los Angeles on September 17.

Proposed construction and improvements approved at that meeting will be included in a state-wide plan to be submitted to the state highway department.

The recommendations will also be placed before military authorities because most of the proposed improvements are of high strategic value.

The Palm Springs cut-off, as it was termed at last night's meeting, leaves State Highway 111 north of Palm Springs and cuts across the desert to the east of the city to Cathedral City and from there follows the present route into Indio.

Mother of Local Woman Succumbs At Chicago Home

Friends of Mrs. Raymond R. Wilson, wife of the widely known Palm Springs contractor, were saddened to learn this week of the death of her mother, Mrs. E. A. Eckhart of Chicago, Ill., on August 26, at her home in the midwest city.

Mrs. Eckhart had been ill for but two weeks. She was in her 80s.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were in Chicago when Mrs. Eckhart became ill, and Mrs. Wilson was with her mother when the end came.

Mrs. Eckhart was well known in Palm Springs, having visited here many times and spending many winters here when her husband was still alive. Since his death she had been spending her winters at the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena. She was prominent in Chicago circles. She is survived by two daughters and one son.

The Wilsons are now in Los Angeles and will return here later.

Chamber Directors Discuss Campaign

Directors of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce met yesterday for discussion of matters of importance to the Village, including continuance of the campaign to quash rumors that the army had taken over all of the city.

Plans for this drive provided the main topic of discussion.

Dr. Ernest E. Oertel, an experienced school man who has specialized in educational administration for the past 17 years, this week became principal of Palm Springs high school, succeeding Morris F. Richardson who resigned recently to accept a commission in the United States Navy.

Announcement of the appointment of Dr. Oertel was made Tuesday following a meeting of the high school trustees, by Charles Burket, president of the board.

Following the announcement, Mr. Burket said that the board had considered many able candidates for the position and felt that they had selected an outstanding educator for the post.

HOLDS MANY HONORS

Dr. Oertel holds many degrees from leading universities of the nation. He was awarded a PhD by Columbia University of New York, his Master of Arts degree was conferred by the University of California at Berkeley, and his Bachelor of Arts degree by the University of Washington at Seattle. Thursday afternoon at 3 p. m. Dr. Oertel met members of the school faculty and plans were mapped for the year's work. New courses are planned by the new principal who expects to lay emphasis on oral expression and also plans to introduce a course in journalism.

Mr. Richardson will remain most of September, at least until he is called into the service, to assist Dr. Oertel in taking over the reins at the institution.

Dr. Oertel said that he was anxious to meet the parents or

Schools Feel Pinch Of War In Another Way, Says Principal

If they don't get you in one way, they will in another.

First, the school staffs lost men teachers to the army, the navy, the marines and sundry other divisions of the armed forces.

Then women teachers started going into defense plants.

And school heads moaned.

But that isn't all, by any means.

Now the handsome lieutenants are taking their toll.

Miss Katherine Finchy, superintendent of local schools, reports that two members of her teaching staff of last year, will not be back this year.

They married army men who are now stationed elsewhere and the teachers said "where they go, we go," and resigned.

Those lost to the local staff this year by the marriage route are Miss Beverly Tucker, who is now Mrs. Lt. Richard Davis and with her husband at a Texas post, and Miss Patricia Potter, who is now Mrs. Lt. Beck and with her husband in Cambridge, Mass.

Schools Here Prepared For Opening Day

With all but one teacher named for the new term and with a 25 per cent increase in opening day enrollment anticipated, Palm Springs schools were ready today for the start of a new school year, scheduled for next Monday, September 14.

With a large increase in attendance expected and new buildings impossible to achieve, Miss Katherine Finchy, district superintendent of the Desert school district and principal of the Frances S. Stevens school, said this week that doubling up of classes may be necessary.

TWO SESSIONS DAILY

She has worked out a program whereby all children will be accommodated in the present buildings and rooms without curtailment of their education. Morning and afternoon sessions providing the full course in each session have been mapped if the need arises.

At the peak of the school year, almost 500 students are expected in the district's buildings. The peak is expected in March, as it has been coming later each year. In the last 12 years, the enrollment high has been reached five times in January, three times in February and four times in March.

So far, 24 teachers have been engaged and only one more is needed.

TEACHERS LISTED

Miss Finchy listed the teachers engaged for the year as follows: At the Frances S. Stevens school:

Ruth Felberg, new this year, from Elsinore, kindergarten; Minette Scavarda, first grade; Mary Dean MacFarland, (new, from San Marino), second grade; Mrs. Opal Ulmer, first and second grades; Jean Johnston, third grade; Virginia Youngling, third and fourth grades; Susan Jane Gordon (new this year, from La Canada) fourth grade; K. Allen Armsbaugh, fourth grade; Mrs. Dolores Payne Lowry (new, from Redlands) fifth grade; Francis Ulmer, intermediate department, and Eileen Carey, vice-principal of Frances Stevens school, fifth and sixth grades; Maurice John-

Clark, chief engineer for Clark Laboratories of Palm Springs, announced this week that the war production board at Washington, D.C., had granted a higher preference rating to the institution. Amory Houghton, director general of operations for the WPB notified the research laboratory that it has now an A-1-A priority rating.

But this year he is at the helm of The Malt Shop at 282 North Palm Canyon drive, and from the opening day has been playing host to large crowds.

The Malt Shop is located in the former site of the Desert Electrical company. The rooms have been completely renovated and redecorated.

He especially emphasizes cleanliness, and said his kitchen is open to public inspection at any time and that he will always welcome such visits.

With the Boys In the Service

More names were added to the honor roll this week. Some of these are men who recently enlisted in the service, while a few have been in the service for some time, but were overlooked until now.

Added this week are Ed Schechter, Ed Goodin, Ralph Gilmore, Stanley S. Craig, Leonard R. Bryant, George Kellogg, First Lieutenant Wesley Gray, Wm. Heiser and Emilio B. Camaddo.

An honorable discharge was granted this week to Pvt. James Campbell. He is returning to Palm Springs in the near future. Ted McKinney also received an honorable discharge several weeks ago.

Friends learned recently that Sgt. Joseph Todero is now with the army somewhere in Australia.

Staff Sergeant Pilot Buster Crumpton is now stationed at the Lockbourne Army Air base at Columbus, Ohio.

Bruno Leoncio last week was transferred from San Diego to Bremerton, Washington. He writes to the Desert Sun: "I sure wish I could have come home to Palm Springs before I came up here, but I just couldn't make it. I don't know when I'll get a chance to get back there now. Anyway, it's good to read about it in the Desert Sun. Thanks a million for the copies I have received and I'll be looking forward to some more."

Sam and Leo Back In Village Ready For Great Season

Sam and Leo (Sam Satlitz and Leo Baker) Wednesday opened their Plaza delicatessen and liquor shop prepared to serve the Villagers with their usual line of choice articles. Their El Rey delicatessen shop will open about October 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Satlitz and their three daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Baker and their twins returned to Palm Springs last Sunday after a summer spent in Los Angeles and vicinity.

Mr. Satlitz spent much of the summer buying new supplies for the local stores and for a short time managed one of the branch delicatessen stores for the Mayfair Food company in Los Angeles.

Mr. Baker spent the summer at his old job of projectionist at the MGM studio in Hollywood.

Despite the war shortage they have succeeded in buying their usual line of choice imported delicacies, liquors and wines to meet the discerning demand here. They have also stocked a large supply of beer.

Free Wheeling Corporal Turned Over to Army

Corporal Harry R. Pickett, who appropriated a Yellow taxicab last week to drive home when he failed to find the driver, will have his fate decided by the army.

Chief of Police Lyle J. Sanard turned the soldier over to military authorities for disposition of his case last weekend.

Corporal Pickett might have had his free ride but for a little oversight. He forgot to turn on the cab's lights and was picked up by Officer Johnson before he had gone two blocks.

Cathedral City Wins Praise for Patriotism

Captain Russell Z. Smith of the U. S. Signal Corps, writing in response to a letter from Francis Krull of Cathedral City, in which the latter reported that area 100 per cent on guard against air attack, highly praised the patriotism of the community and congratulated them on their public spirit.

Interest Is High As Doubles Event Closes at Academy

The annual fall doubles bowling tournament at the Palm Springs Bowling Academy will come to a close Sunday. Local bowlers who have not yet registered their match scores have until that time to try for the jackpot. They may bowl as many games as they like and enter their best score for the awards. They may come in at any time, the tourney manager said.

Enthusiasm has been high at the academy and several excellent scores have been hung up.

As an added inducement to bowlers, $10 more has been added to the prize money which will be distributed 40 percent to the high scorers, 30 percent for second place, 20 percent for third, and 10 percent for fourth.

Interest in the free bowling classes for women offered by Ludy Britsch of Riverside, formerly of the Village and a prominent southland bowler, is growing. The classes are offered each Wednesday evening. Last Wednesday, despite the fact that the season is just getting under way, there were 14 in the class.

OFFICERS DEFEATED

The academy's own team, "The Hot Shots", hung one on a team composed of officers from the Torney General Hospital in a match game this week. The score of the five-man team play was not revealed. Those on the army team were Capt. George Daily, Capt. "Detachment Commander" Andrews, Lieut. Jack Wanat, Lieut. "Hot Shot" Ward and Lieut. Barr.

LEAGUES PLANNED

Joe Henderson, owner and manager of the academy, would like all men and women bowlers interested in league competition to come in and sign up as soon as possible. The Commercial Bowling League will start rolling on October 1. Several business houses have signified their intention of entering teams.

A Scratch league will also be formed if sufficient bowlers are interested.

Howard Fulmer Here On Business Visit

Howard Fulmer was in Palm Springs this week looking after business interests and preparing for another season here.

Mrs. Fulmer, who was taken seriously ill toward the close of last season, is not progressing as well as hoped for and her many friends here will regret to learn that she is now forced to remain abed.

The Fulmers spent the summer in Pasadena and Mr. Fulmer returned there after a brief time spent here.

ELECTIONS COME HIGH

The primary election of August 25 cost taxpayers of Riverside county $7,357.20. A bill for that amount was approved by the board of supervisors this week.

Men are dying for the Four Freedoms. The least we can do here at home is to buy War Bonds—10% for War Bonds, every pay day.

FERRYING COMMAND NOTES

News of the Army Ferrying Command Detachment at Palm Springs Airport

STAFF SGT. JOHN R. SAARI

The Ferrying Command will have a swimming pool some time late in October or early in November.

Personnel of the Command are pitching in and contributing a day's work each on the pool. Thanks to the Conyes and Dixon Construction company, the boys will not have to dig in with pick and shovel. The company's scrapers and bulldozers are digging the hole and the boys are trucking in the rocks for the walls and doing the other necessary work.

First Lieutenant L. Goldberg, medical officer, is directing construction.

Although Pvt. McGoff got away to an excellent start and retired the first three men to face him on four pitched balls, the Rinkydinks trimmed the Ferry Command team, 13 to 9, in a hard-fought game.

S. Sgt. A. M. Wells has been assigned as the new first sergeant of the Ferrying Command detachment, being relieved from the squadron supply office which has been taken over by Cpl. C. F. Kenniff.

Pvt. Russell H. Cramer is the latest benedict at the Command. He was married September 7 at Yuma, Arizona, to Miss Beverly Rotschstein of Palm Springs. They will live in Palm Springs.

Cathedral City Girl Bride of Corona Man

Of interest to the many friends of the bride in this city is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Eunice Clark of Corona, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Clark of Cathedral City, to Fred A. Read, Jr., of that city, which occurred at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of Rev. F. E. White in Corona.

Mrs. White and Miss Rena White were witnesses at the wedding.

After a short honeymoon, the bride and groom will be at home in Corona, where Mr. Read has a position with the Exchange Lemon Products company.

Mr. and Mrs. John O. Clark and their daughter came to this area from Michigan, when Eunice was high school age, and she attended high school completing her education at the University of Redlands. For a number of years she has been a very successful teacher in the elementary schools of Corona. She is an attractive and amiable young lady with many friends in this city.

She has been spending the summer in Redlands with her parents, who are residents of Cathedral City and expect to return to their desert home next Sunday.

Mr. Read is a graduate of Cherokee County Community high school at Columbus, Kansas, and the Baker University at Baldwin City, Kansas.

Red Cross Sewing Room Open Every Wednesday Morning

Red Cross sewing has been going on all summer in spite of the fact most of the women were away. The chairman in charge is Mrs. Guy Pinney, who has kept the room open every Wednesday morning.

The sewing room in the Plaza is still open every Wednesday morning, cotton material is available to work on, and wool yarn is on hand for those who want to knit.

Soldier Fatally Injured In Automobile Crash

When an automobile in which he was riding went out of control and turned over on Highway 60, a short distance east of Whitewater early Friday morning, Joseph McIlheney, a soldier at Palm Springs, suffered injuries which caused his death at 6 o'clock that evening.

Lawrence Hooper, another soldier, also a passenger in the car, and the driver, Silas Dunn of Bell, were uninjured. It is understood the two soldiers were with army units on maneuvers on the desert. They were offered a lift by Dunn, who was on his way to Phoenix, Arizona.

Following first aid treatment at Banning, he was brought to the Torney General hospital here, but failed to rally.

The accident was investigated by State Highway Patrolman Gene Henderson.

An inquest was held Tuesday at Riverside into the tragedy.

Fleta Wroughton Prepares Date Shop For Eighth Season

Mrs. Fleta Wroughton returned to Palm Springs Sunday after a summer spent at Long Beach and is resting up from an illness contracted just at the close of last season. From the Village she went to Loma Linda for hospitalization and after her recovery went to the beach city. She says that today she is fully recovered and "feels grand."

With a crew of girls, the same staff which served the public so well last year, she is now busy in preparing. The Garden Desert Date shop in the Carnell building for its eighth season. The shop will open next week.

It has been completely renovated and Mrs. Wroughton has laid in a large supply of pottery and woodenware containers for gift packages.

Changes Being Made in Insignia by Officers and Men at Torney Hospital

Insignias were changed on the sleeves of all officers and enlisted men at Torney General hospital this week as the units there were placed in the Ninth Service command with headquarters in Utah. Hitherto most of the units had been under Washington, D. C., service command.

The new arm insignia is white on a blue nonagon shield.

Other insignia changes also were made this week at the hospital. Following publication in the Army and Navy Journal of new regulations concerning insignia of rank and branch of service, changes were quickly made by officers and men.

NOW ON COLLAR

The Journal announced that insignia on shirts would be changed in that signia of rank would not be worn on the shoulder as heretofore, but on the collar instead.

Where the U.S. appeared on the right side of the shirt collar, the insignia of rank now appears. On the left side of the collar, the branch of service is indicated.

On the garrison cap, the insignia of rank is now worn on the left side. The piping on the cap indicates the branch of service and officers.

Council to Gather
In Active Session
Wednesday Eve

Many important matters will come before the city council at an adjourned session scheduled for Wednesday evening, Sept. 16, at the council chambers.

Second reading and vote on two new ordinances, one to regulate photographers operating in public places and the other to establish a 9 p. m. to 6 a. m. curfew for persons under 17 years of age, are among matters to be considered.

Reports on Schedule

City Attorney Roy W. Colegate is slated to introduce amendments to Ordinance No. 75, the city zoning measure, which were authorized at the regular meeting Sept. 2. These amendments change the wording of definitions, a move which is expected to expedite the work of the planning commission.

Mayor Frank Shannon, City Manager A. E. Bailey and Councilman C. P. Adams, who were named on a committee to formulate a definite policy on requests for leaves of absence by city employees who expect to enter the armed service of the nation, have been studying the policies of other cities in this regard, and a report is expected from them. Mr. Bailey was in Los Angeles the fore part of the week gathering data on this subject and also on ways and means of financing the local rationing board. He will report on this latter matter, too, next Wednesday.

League to Meet

The matter of the request of the Plaza Garage to have its summer storage permit extended to cover the winter months, too, will be reported on by the Committee on Public Safety in whose hands it was placed.

City Clerk Robert Peterson will present details of the coming League of California Municipalities conference, scheduled for the Biltmore hotel, Los Angeles, Sept. 21 to 24, and delegates may be named.

James J. Campbell
Given Honorable Discharge by Army

James J. Campbell, widely known Palm Springs resident, will be back in the village in October, according to word he sent The Desert Sun this week.

Campbell received an honorable discharge after six months and nine days of service due to a physical disability on September 3 and has returned to Fort MacArthur. He writes that he hopes to be back here early in October.

Mr. Campbell, while here, engaged in public accounting and assisted village residents with their income tax reports and like matters.

All-Year Club Aids
In Quashing Story
Village Is 'Closed'

The All-Year club is doing its bit to dispel the rumors that "Palm Springs has been taken over, lock, stock and barrel," by the army.

Its latest publicity release, sent to all newspapers and printed by most of them, follows:

"Palm Springs, famed oasis of Southern California's desert playground, is preparing for a full winter season, according to the All-Year club, community advertising organization.

"One of the hotels has been converted into a hospital by the army because of the pleasant winter climate, but all others are planning to be open to the public as usual. This includes the 30 larger hotels and guest ranches and numerous other smaller hostels and apartments. Some have already opened for the season, and one of the major hotels is planning to open a month earlier than it did last year, because of the large number of advance inquiries."

Sanitary District Will Elect Two Members

Two members of the Palm Springs Sanitary district will be elected next Monday, September 14. Both unopposed for re-election, they are Thomas H. Lipps and Harold J. Hicks.

Polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. at the Frances S. Stevens school in North Palm Canyon drive.

Palm Springs Gets
$172.68 from State
Auto License Fees

Palm Springs was apportioned $172.68 as its share of motor vehicle license fees collected during the first six months of 1942, according to announcement by James M. Carter, state director of motor vehicles, at Sacramento.

The apportionment to the city was based on a population of 3,434. Riverside county's share of license fees, based on a population of 105,524, was $3,864.21.

The vehicle license fees were formerly collected by cities and counties as personal property tax.

Riverside county was also apportioned $61,494.13 as its share in state motor registration fees paid during the first six months of the year. This was based on a total of 43,144 motor vehicles registered in the county, including 36,371 automobiles, two solid-tire trucks, 3,135 pneumatic-tire trucks, 300 motorcycles, 40 solid-tire trailers, and 3,296 pneumatic-tire trailers.

Just That One Big Fish Made Vacation
Jaunt Worth While

George T. Oliver is still talking about the fish he caught while on a week's vacation spent with his son, George E. Oliver, of Long Beach.

They ventured in one of son George's boats to the fishing grounds off Catalina Island, where they ran into great schools of albicore. The Palm Springs man caught one 26-pounder with rod and reel that made his vacation trip well worthwhile.

Albicore is now bringing its top price in many years and the Catalina fishermen are doing well, Oliver said.

Outside of the fishermen and the military establishments, there is little activity now on the island.

Torney General Jottings

News of the Enlisted Men of the Medical and Quartermaster Detachment at Torney Army General Hospital, Palm Springs
By Corporal Russell H. Genich

The Saturday night dance at the USO Hospitality House was well attended by the hospital enlisted personnel. The Camp Young dance orchestra and girls from Palm Springs and neighboring communities collaborated to provide an enjoyable evening for the boys, who claim it was the best dance to date.

Wednesday night, September 2, brought the first camp entertainment which, incidentally, scored a big hit. Enlisted personnel, patients, civilian employees, and Palm Springs residents combined their talents to present a really great show.

Sam Hinton, curator of the local museum, entertained with songs and patter and a variety of unique musical entrees which all will remember a long time. Sgt. Lambert gave out with imitations and a pleasing bit of chatter. Pvt. Bugarin charmed all with his renditions of popular ditties in that "Latin" manner. PFC Ray Samson, violinist, rendered several well-known musical comedy numbers. Sgt. Henson surprised with a pleasing tenor voice on "I'll Take You Home Again Kathleen." Pvt. Al Rithamel and Inez Underhill collaborated on a vocal of "Harbor Lights." Patient PFC Nolan held forth with farmyard imitations and harmonica playing. Civilian employee "Mit" Vail, for thirty years a professional band man, played and sang several original numbers which scored highly.

"Gloomy Gus" Williams gave his impression of Wallace Beery and several other verbal tidbits. Your correspondent acted as master of ceremonies and accompanist.

Sunday, September 6, saw the inauguration of Catholic services at the hospital. Father Riley, pastor of the local Catholic church, "Our Lady of Solitude," read the mass. Mrs. Clawson, vocalist, and Mrs. Thompson, pianist, wives of officers located at the Desert Center, favored the gathering with a special musical number. Henceforth the Catholic mass will be read at 8:30 a. m., and the Protestant service at 11:00 a. m. each Sunday.

Chaplain Hayes conducted the Protestant service. The choir sang "The Old Rugged Cross," and Mrs. Claude Gottbehuert and your correspondent collaborated on a vocal duet. PFC Ray Samson, violinist, will play "Adoration," by Borowski, for next Sunday's services.

Announcement has been made of the opening of the Post Library in the Administration building with PFC Coleman in charge. It is expected that upwards of thirty-five hundred books will be made available to the personnel patients. Bouquets to Mrs. Jeanne Overton, wife of Lieut. Overton, who is stationed at Rice, for the part she played in setting up the library.

Mrs. John Vietti, wife of First Lieutenant Vietti, and daughter, Regina, motored to San Diego this past weekend. We note the arrival of Mrs. Alvin C. Rithamel, wife of acting Provost Sergeant Rithamel, and Mrs. Thorwald C. Loendorf, wife of S. Sgt. Loendorf. Both Mrs. Rithamel and Mrs. Loendorf plan to make their homes here.

Terminating a string of four straight victories, the hospital softball team came up on the short end of a 13-11 score in a practice game with the Ferry Command team Friday night, September 4. The game was nip and tuck until a series of hits in the ninth frame by the Ferry Command team brought in the winning tallies.

Monday, September 7, saw the hospital team return to form and defeat the Rinkydinks, 15-11. Pitchers Kingsley and McNabb shared the pitching chore. Though the game was marred by errors, consistent slugging by both teams made it a bang-up affair. Second Baseman Carr, who played a whale of a game, and Catcher Merritt pounded out home runs.

The finals of the Hospital Horseshoe tournament saw the team of Walsted and Woodall of the Q.M. Corps, defeat the team of Black and Carr, of the Medical Section. Walsted and Woodall won decisively by taking five straight games. A shuffleboard tournament has been announced by the recreation department.

At an informal gathering at the hospital, Tuesday, September 1,

The Desert Sun,
Palm Springs, Calif.

To the Editor:

Dear sir: It was with deep regret that I learned of the untimely passing of Charles N. Bosworth. His friends will miss him and the community has suffered a distinct loss. His kindness, patience, gentleness and integrity endeared him to all who had the privilege of knowing him.

He was a man who put his ideals into practice at all times, in business as well as in his personal life. When filling civic positions, his sole aim was to be of service to Palm Springs; neither prestige nor political influence held any interest for him.

Having lived his life on a high plane, he has now departed; but the essence of his spirit lives on—in the minds and hearts of those who knew him. Thus he will continue to serve our community, as he has served it so faithfully for many years past.

Sincerely yours,

a fine leather wardrobe and wallet were presented to Mrs. Frank Bennett in appreciation of the courtesy extended the men by the Bennetts during the hot summer months. Section Commander, Captain O. K. Andrews, made the presentation.

Forty members of the Hospital Nurse Corps and an equal number of bachelor officers of the Third Armored Division were entertained at the Palm Springs Tennis club Saturday night, September 5. The party was arranged by the hospital special service officer. A swim, picnic dinner, and dance comprised the activity of the evening. A vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. McManus for the use of the Tennis club. Members of the hospital personnel who rendered services which contributed to the success of the party were T. Sgt. Congdon, S. Sgt. Loendorf, Pvt. Rithamel, Technician Fourth Grade Gordon, Mr. Krist and civilian employees Daisy Merten and Irene McDonald.

IT'S EVERYBODY'S WAR NOW

President Roosevelt on Monday reiterated what he has said so many times—and the fact is beginning to sink in—this is a global war. We are all in it. Palm Springs was given another chance to realize this fact this week when City Manager Arthur E. Bailey received a call to active duty.

Many others in important key posts in the city government have been called or will be called soon. Before long, every one of eligible age and able-bodied, will be engaged either in the armed services or in essential war work.

That puts a responsibility on some of the older heads, men who have lived an active and successful life and are now enjoying the fruits of their labor. They will have to get back into harness for the duration, to manage and operate our civic affairs.

The government is drafting the younger men. Why cannot the City of Palm Springs draft some of these able, older men, highly successful elsewhere, who are now making their homes here. They include engineers, financiers, attorneys and all of the brains needed to efficiently manage a city.

Remember, I'm new here and those listed below are just some of those I've heard mentioned on the streets. There are probably a score of other capable men, highly successful in their private endeavors, who could step in in the pinch and help run the city. But here's a few at random who would make a good job of it: Frank Cutler, Irving Snyder, Bill Dean, Edward H. Gary, Karl Kumpke.

These are, by no means, all. There are many others. But that partial list serves to convey the idea.

Something must be done.

THE GREAT ADVENTURE BEGINS

A large number of important Palm Springs residents will next week start on one of the greatest adventures in their lives. To most of us, caloused by life, the event will pass unnoticed. But to the adventurers themselves and to their mothers and fathers, it marks a turning point. For these important people are the youngsters starting out for the first time to go to school, entering that thorny path full of hard knocks and unexpected bumps, the path to education.

The opening day of school offers a good chance for some of us to become maudlin. These kids who have gone this far in life with an abiding faith in Mom and Dad and who have been living in a world of fancy and play, are due for a lot of disillusionments. They are going to find the world isn't such an old softy, after all. In short, they are going to find the job tough. But they'll be better citizens for that, so let's not feel too sorry for mental bruises they'll sustain.

Considering the times, let's, instead, be thankful that they have the chance to go to school. There are youngsters in some parts of the world, too many parts, who have not that opportunity. The chance to become worthy citizens is not given them. They face only the treadmill.

So send that youngster off to his great adventure with a cheerful heart Monday. Sure, there'll be bumps. Forget them. Just remember the goal he has a chance to attain.

THE QUALITY OF MERCY

Last week fell the nineteenth anniversary of one of the most terrible disasters ever to befall a nation—the Japanese earthquake of 1923 that, followed by tidal waves and fires, destroyed 70 per cent of the buildings in Tokyo and Yokohama, killed 140,000 persons, injured half a million, sank or stranded more than half the Japanese Navy, and paralyzed the nation in face of looting, rioting and pestilence.

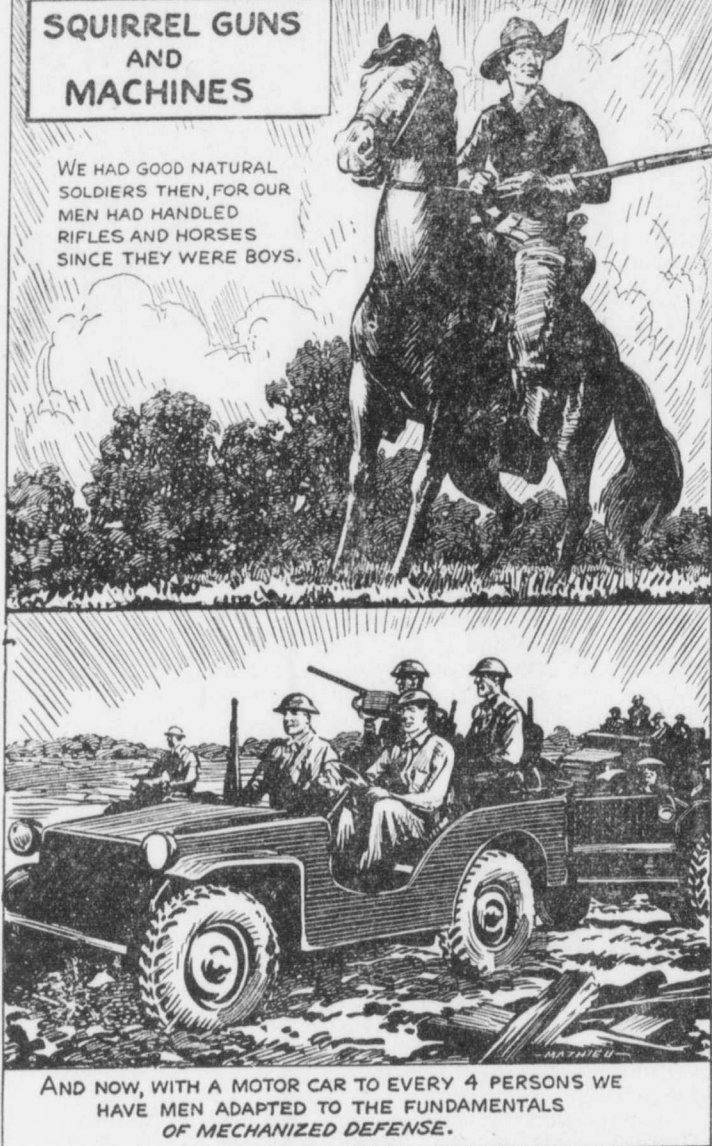

Within three days, an American warship, laden with food and medicines, reached Yokohama. Within a week, 12 other American Navy mercy ships arrived. Within 20 days, 11 fast freighters were on the way from Pacific Coast ports to Japan, burdened with every form of needed supplies. The American Red Cross stripped its emergency relief fund for Japanese aid and was immediately supplied with millions of dollars donated by generous citizens of every American state and community.

And then Masanao Hanihara, Japanese ambassador to the United States, said: "America's open-handed sympathy in Japan's sorest need will forever drive from the Japanese mind all thoughts of American aggression in the Far East. Of course, Japan will be grateful. Never—for we have long memories in our country—never shall we forget your sympathy in this hour of our national distress."

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

SQUIRREL GUNS AND MACHINES

WE HAD GOOD NATURAL SOLDIERS THEN, FOR OUR MEN HAD HANDLED RIFLES AND HORSES SINCE THEY WERE BOYS.

The earthquake revealed to Japan the unrestrained quality of mercy in America's heart."

Nineteen years after all that, to the week, the Japanese refused to grant safe passage to the relief ship destined, under rules of international law in war, to relieve the misery of sick and hungry prisoners of war. No other nation on earth has been guilty in this war of such utter heartlessness. Hitler and Mussolini are war-lords of ruthlessness seldom equalled in history—yet Germany and Italy have facilitated the shipment of food, clothing and medical supplies to American prisoners in those countries.

The quality of mercy in America's heart has been turned to the wrath of vengeance for those helpless prisoners she cannot aid. The Los Angeles Times, looking grimly ahead, has predicted that history will rewrite the date of Japan's greatest disaster from September 1, 1923, to December 7, 1941. Another date Japan may bitterly regret is the day she barred that mercy ship from the men who fought on Bataan.

OF BOMBS AND PUPS

If you have a dog or cat, and haven't given thought to the matter of quieting pets through an air raid, you just aren't ready for a raid—no matter if you've memorized the last detail of instruction of human life and property. For the protection of yourself as well as your pets, you should give them sedatives in form of aspirin or solium bromide as soon as possible. With either drug, the dosage is two grains for small dogs and cats, five grains for medium-sized dogs, and 10 to 15 grains for large breeds.

That advice was given last week by a man who has handled hundreds of pets belonging to other people. He is Jack Berry, veteran bell-boy; and the pets, mostly dogs, he has taken for walks through the years for guests of San Francisco's Palace Hotel. You learn dog psychology best, says Mr. Berry philosophically, when you handle other people's dogs.

"The gentlest of dogs may be dangerous," he said, "when badly frightened. Dogs like me; and I can easily calm a country-bred dog startled by the roar of traffic. But I can imagine the friendliest animal being driven into stark terror and becoming dangerous to his own master or mistress in the hell of an air raid. I asked a good vet what to do for pets if bombs should burst. And if an air raid ever comes to this hotel, I'm prepared with the aspirin and the bromide—and I'd advise every pet owner to be prepared likewise, whether at home or traveling."

It does seem a point of safety for pet owners, as well as of humaneness toward loved animals, to consider this bit of advice from a wise bell-boy on bombs and pups.

CLUB AND PRESS AID PALM SPRINGS

The All-Year Club and the Automobile Club of Southern California are doing their bit to aid in dispelling rumors that the "army has taken over Palm Springs. Practically every southland newspaper last week or this week carried articles sent out by one or the other of these two organizations, reporting that Palm Springs was preparing for one of its best seasons. For all this, Palm Springs is grateful. As most editors gave prominent headlines to the articles, thanks to the fellow-scissors wielders, too.

Hi, Soldier!

The rest of the family had gone into the grocery to buy something to spice up our coming, warmed-over luncheon. I looked at the boy in khaki, standing on the corner. Even the rakish angle of his cap over crisp red hair did not hide something I felt as I watched him.

"Are you having a good time 'round here?" I would never have been so bold in speaking to a stranger during the last war. I am older now. Much older.

The boy came to the side of the car. "I am so homesick I could die," he said. It was said without emotion, with the quiet of wretchedness too deep to express. Once I was homesick. I have always remembered it. I felt weak in my stomach and had a pain like a tight band around my heart. I was very young and decided I was about to die.

"Would you like to come home with us?" I asked the boy. "There is nothing exciting at our house. You can sit around and read and after a little, we will all have lunch."

"I am not hungry," the boy said, "but I wish I could go home with you." I opened the door of the car and he hopped in.

"This is Bill Smith," I said to the family when they came out of the store. "He is coming home to lunch with us." I said it in a mild panic but it was accepted as though we always had strange boys in the back of the car coming home with us to lunch.

I have dallied with the idea of going to the USO and announcing I would take two or three boys for Sunday dinner. Then I have worried about it and given it up. What I be able to give them what they liked to eat? What could we talk about? I am on the shy side with total strangers.

Here I was on the way home with a strange boy and haunted by the thoughts of the food we had on hand and what to do about it. I didn't worry about what to talk about. The boy was doing all the talking.

Once at home, I told him to do whatever he liked, gave him some current magazines and told him to go outdoors or stay inside. Everything pleased him, even our friendly dog and he began a long story about his own dog.

I looked at the end of a roast lamb I had planned on having. I added some vegetables and made hot biscuits. There were boiled potatoes in the ice box. I creamed them and tossed in a bit of cheese. I am a casual cook. I sliced fresh peaches and put a pitcher of cream on the table. While I hurried the cooking, I heard the steady hum of the boy's voice, talking to the family.

I put an extra doilie on the table with silver and a clean napkin. That was all the special preparation I made. When the boy told me he hadn't had such a good dinner since he had been in the army, I wondered why I had been in a dither about asking a soldier to dinner. This, then, was what they wanted. A family table and listening ears and encouragement to talk of the things they loved.

The boy said he was 26. My thoughts wandered off. Life to me at 26 was a shining river, stretching ahead indefinitely. "And perhaps we shall come back but we don't know..." This was the boy talking, breaking into my thoughts. "And I wish I had known more about my mother," he said to me. "She died when I was so young I can't remember her. I like to think she was pretty with soft eyes and had things nice, like you..." and what woman's heart wouldn't turn to wax... "And of all the places I have been and they have been many, I haven't found people as friendly as the people in this city. Would you write down your name for me so I can send you a post card and tell you how much this has meant to me?"

What am I trying to say? Only this. Don't worry about being a perfect hostess. Don't think about what to give them to eat. Let them talk about themselves. Let them tell you about their mothers, their girls, their hopes and dreams. Share a few hours of your life with them. When you see a lonely boy, say Hi, Soldier. He will finish the sentence.

"Dug Out"

By RUTH SUMMERS

Summer is ephemeral. Now fall has set in. Soon it will be winter. With the passing of summer come changes. Have not the writers of verse and romantic fiction dwelt upon the sadness of closed doors when summer is finished? Now it is my part to close a door. Mr. Grill, executive for the Dug Out, has announced that henceforth the news of that soldier's retreat will be carried in a monthly item which he will compile. Consequently the words written this morning will constitute my swan song.

The chief thing I wish to say is that I have derived pleasure from every word I have written because I believe in the work of the Dug Out and I think the Dug Out is accomplishing a truly constructive work. It is my desire to continue to aid Mr. Grill and his organization to serve the boys. With my readers, and I know I have one or two, because we have discussed, and they intelligently, former contributions, I want to leave a poem which was handed to me by a friend who had read my column. It was given to me because as a poem it is excellent and because it carries a beautiful spiritual message. It was written by a young Canadian aviator named John Magee. He was only 19 years old and he was killed in action just a few weeks after he wrote the following lines:

Oh, I have slipped the surly bonds of earth
And danced the skies on laughter-silvered wings,
Sunward I have climbed
And joined the tumbling mirth of sunlit clouds,
And done a hundred things you have not dreamed of,
Wheeled and soared and swung high in the sunlit silence;
Hov'ring there I've chased the shouting winds along,
And flung my eager craft through footless halls of air.

Oh, Oh! The long delicious burning blue!
I've topped the wind-swept heights with easy grace,
Where never lark or even eagle flew,
And, while with silent lifting mind I've trod
The high untrespassed sanctity of space,
Put out my hand and touched the face of God.

John Magee touched the face of God. I think if I were a mother, and my son chose to fly, I would let my spirit soar with that of the young poet aviator, and build my courage on the knowledge that my boy too soared those heights, and touched the face of God.

So now, adieu... and remember... keep your faith... and help others to keep it, too... and remember... the Dug Out needs you.

OPA Head Pledges Aid in Retaining Rationing Board

City Manager Arthur E. Bailey, accompanied by Councilmen Raymond E. Sorum and J. M. Connell Friday of last week, conferred with Fred D. Yerger of the OPA office in Los Angeles and received official assurance that the government would maintain the local war price and rationing office for 15 days additional until September 15, at which time the secretary would be transferred to Los Angeles and the local office closed insofar as federal support was concerned.

Maintenance of the local office thereafter would fall upon the city of Palm Springs.

WILL PAY COSTS

At last Wednesday night's council meeting, Mr. Bailey was authorized by the council to assure Mr. Yerger that the city would take steps to underwrite the board's local costs. Under this plan, the local office will be maintained, obviating a 50-mile round-trip for Palm Springs residents having business with it. Otherwise, these people would have to go to Banning or Indio.

Originally, the Palm Springs rationing office was ordered closed as of September 1, along with two other boards in the county. The government, in an economy move, had ordered one-fourth of all boards in the county closed. Other boards affected were at Beaumont and San Jacinto.

APPRECIATES SUPPORT

In his official notification to the Village that the local board would be maintained, Mr. Yerger said that he much appreciated the support the community had given the rationing program and assured him that, when and if Congress increases funds for the OPA, the local board will be among the first to be restored.

Local Girls Return From Washington Trip

Beverly Anne Kelley and Shirley Mae Kelley, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Kelley, returned the latter part of the week from Belingham, Wash., where they spent three weeks visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. I. O. Kelley.

Beverly Anne enters Junior high school here this year, and Shirley Mae is a junior at the high school.

Mr. Kelley is local manager for Armstrong's dairy.

"Are we out of anesthetic again, Sergeant?"

Cathedral City

By W. R. HILLERY

Successive issues of The Desert Sun have contained the information that a marriage license had been issued at Riverside to Robert Hepburn Bryant and Miss Georgia Lois Rich.

Interest in the approaching marriage of Miss Rich is more than local although the bride-to-be has lived in Cathedral City with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Rich, for a number of years. After attending the Frances S. Stevens school in Palm Springs, Miss Rich entered and was graduated from the Palm Springs high school.

In addition to assisting her parents since graduation, Miss Rich found time with her sister, Norma, to serve their country by taking seven periods a week on the local observation post.

The groom, son of Edwin and Helen Hepburn Bryant, is employed in defense work on the coast with the Bethlehem shipyards.

The marriage will take place September 13th at the Mission Inn chapel in Riverside with only immediate friends and relatives present. The marriage date coincides with Miss Rich's birthday.

In addition to a kitchen shower given for Miss Rich by her friends last Wednesday afternoon and other social affairs, the community extends its good wishes to this young couple for a long and happy wedded life.

School days, school days! What's going on in our village world?

Recently the Palm Springs high school board, of which yours truly is a member, was confronted with a real problem when the call to serve our country was accepted by Mr. Morris Richardson, our superintendent. Time was short in which to choose a worthy successor to a most worthy superintendent. But with the assistance of Mr. Richardson, a number of outstanding executive educators were interviewed and the choice of the board was Dr. Ernest E. Oertel, who we are sure will ably guide the destiny of our high school through this troubled period and on into happier days to come.

In Cathedral City elementary school we are losing capable and popular Eileen Carey to become vice-principal of the Frances Stevens school. In Miss Carey's place is to be Miss Eunice M. Gaines, assisted by Miss Helen Brownless.

With the army people, the construction people, and the usual or unusual desert population we are faced with full classes from the start.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Kelly of San Diego are spending a part of their vacation on the Desert Cove ranch. The Kellys are owners of a portion of the ranch where, in time, they will make their home. Mrs. Kelly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Peterson, founder and extensive owner of the ranch.

W. J. and Mrs. Naef with Mrs. Naef's son, Robert, came over from Hueneme, where W. J. is superintendent of military construction. Mrs. Naef said they would reopen their Pines to Palms Lodge next month. On their return to Hueneme they took as their guest Robert Hann, who will enjoy a few days with their Robert before returning to high school here. I have to put in a word for the Observation Post now and then and it should be recorded that Robert Hann has been serving four shifts per week as aircraft observer.

With the opening of school we have to have a reshuffle of watches among the observers for we lose three generations of Careys: Mrs. Laura, Eileen, and Billy; and in addition Miss Norma Rich, Robert Hann, Robert Higgins and Robert Hillery. We hope to salvage some shifts out of the lot either after school and on Saturdays and Sundays.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Strong are back for the winter at their home here, and Mr. Strong has resumed service at the post.

George Washington is back after a vacation of a couple of weeks. Fred Springer was here long enough to unload some personal effects and says he and Mrs. Springer will be out here to stay shortly.

Mrs. Ethel York spent a part of her vacation looking after her three rental cottages here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Gephert returned here after their sad mission to Los Angeles last week to attend the last rites for their son, Kenneth, who was killed while at work at the harbor.

Mrs. Harriet A. Day, manager of the Desert Inn Gallery and home owner here, came back last week to prepare for the season's activity.

Word from Jack and Kate Grove from Arrowhead, where they have been guests at the mountain lodge managed by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dorne, advise they will return to their Palm Springs home the latter part of this month.

There are now two civilian crews living in the village. One under the leadership of H. D. Miller is stopping at the Rockwall Cottages, and the other under Lloyd Allen, is at the A. B. Craig Cottages. Both crews are doing army work.

A Mr. and Mrs. Dixon came here last year for Mrs. Dixon's health, and although this climate does miracles for so many people, it failed to restore Mrs. Dixon's health, and she passed away on the evening of the fourth of September. Mr. Dixon was employed at Rancho Mirage, but whether he will now continue to live on the desert we did not learn.

S. D. Arner, pending the opening of the season, has accepted employment in the Palm Springs military construction work.

H. A. Snyder, popular rancher, is preparing to open a retail market in the J. J. Grove property where Mrs. Catherine Starke had her stand last year.

After a summer at Pomins Lodge at Lake Tahoe, Jack Hillery is visiting his father and family in Cathedral City before entering military service.

Next Meeting of Roads to Romance At Newport Beach

The first meeting of the Roads to Romance association since the election of officers will be held on Friday, September 18, at the Newport Beach Yacht club. A 12 o'clock luncheon will be followed by a trip around Newport-Balboa harbor, followed by a trip to the Replacement Center at Santa Ana. Commanding Officer, Colonel W. J. Robinson, will take association members over the large aviation base. A stop will be made at the Naval Reserve Base at Los Alamitos and at Daugherty Field, Long Beach.

Interest Is Shown In Business Clinic Planned at Banning

Several Palm Springs business men are planning to attend a free wartime business clinic scheduled for October 15, 19, 21 and 23, at the Banning high school. The clinic will be a very one held in this area this year.

The four meetings will be held in the study hall at the Banning school from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. Not only are all the proprietors of businesses in this area expected to attend, but their clerks and inexperienced people who desire preparatory training as reserves to fill the vacancies left by salespeople inducted into other services are urged to attend.

Discussing the business clinic, last Saturday, F. M. Wakeley, the director, quoted President Roosevelt: "Never before have we had so little time in which to do so much." Because there are so many vital subjects on which business people need instruction, and so many communities asking for the clinic, the most important of these subjects will be included in the four meetings granted the communities that can be served. The following subjects will be covered at the Banning meetings:

Meeting Current Business Problems:

This will involve a survey of the special problems which retailers must face throughout the war period. Suggestions will be offered to help in their solution.

Handling Difficult Customer Situations:

The change in buying psychology, in motives for action, in general temperament and other things of this nature will be discussed.

Meeting Customer Demands With Available Supplies:

Alternate choices must be provided to meet the problem of merchandise shortages caused by the diversion of raw materials and labor into the program of war. This makes it important that salespeople know how to analyze the benefits of new items of stock and to present them properly to the public.

Helping Customers To Buy Efficiently:

Salespeople have a peculiar responsibility during this national emergency. They must keep in mind the interest of their firm, their customers and their country. The art of making sales, of helping people to select suitable merchandise from the stock which is available and other topics related to the making of buying decisions will be handled under this heading.

Office of Price Administration:

Problems related to the determination of ceiling prices, posting of cost of living commodities, making up-to-date price lists, and other matters relating to O.P.A. Rationing, establishment of field offices, forms and procedures to be used, voluntary rationing, inventory limitation.

War Manpower Commission, U. S. Employment Service:

Employer-employee relationships.

U. S. Department of Commerce:

Sources of current information, special governmental services.

Credits:

Credit control measures, current credit problems, credit interviewing and credit granting under wartime conditions, collection problems and procedures.

Story of Priorities:

Why needed, effect upon supplies of consumer goods, program for consumer production, production requirements plan and other priorities procedures, including explanation of forms.

Transportation Problems:

Procedures for facilitating handling of merchandise in transit so as to remove causes for unnecessary delay, local deliveries—restrictions and solutions to problems arising from them.

Draft Boards Looking Over List of Workers

With the demands of the army for men rapidly nearing the point where they will exceed the available supply, Riverside county draft boards were advised this week to tap sources hitherto untouched. This means, draft board officials said, that many of draft age, now in industries, will be called to the armed forces.

Boards have asked married men to transfer from non-essential jobs to defense jobs to release workers for the army.

15-Year-Old Gives Local Police Busy Time After Crash

A 15-year-old youth, driving with a restricted license which forbids driving between sundown and sunrise unless accompanied by his parents, gave police a busy time one evening this week.

First, he assertedly became intoxicated and then he ran into a parked automobile belonging to W. F. Jeffs, a tourist from Oklahoma.

Next, he ran away without reporting the crack-up.

He was arrested at his home by Officer Bill Lux. As he still had his old license he was certified to juvenile court on three counts, driving while intoxicated, hit-and-run and driving with a restricted license.

Jimmy Cooper Looks Over Situation Here

Jimmy Cooper was in the Village Wednesday preparing for the return of his family here for the season. Mrs. Cooper, (Dot) and their two little girls, will be down next week.

Cooper formerly published the Trailer Chronicle, a paper circulating in local trailer camps, but believes that he will not put it out this season.

With his wife and family he has been spending the summer at Laguna Beach, commuting between that city and Santa Ana, where he was employed as a carpenter on construction work on the air corps replacement center there.

Joe Smoot Is Added To Palm Springs Force

Chief of Police Lyle J. Sanard announced this week that Officer Orest Johnson resumed his motorcycle patrol of Palm Springs streets on Thursday as the department put into effect its season schedule.

Joe Smoot from Holtville, has been added to the local staff in preparation for the greatly increased activity expected.

WORK OUT COUNTY-WIDE PLAN TO SUPPLY STUDENT LABOR TO HARVEST PERISHABLE CROPS IN COUNTY

At a recent meeting of the representatives of the United States Employment Service, school authorities, and the Riverside county labor supply committee, it was decided that the school authorities will cooperate with the U. S. Employment Service by permitting high school and junior high school students to work in the harvest of agriculture in Riverside county, for a limited time, during the expected critical period of perishable crops.

The program will be on a voluntary basis for the youths who will work in the harvest. The U. S. Employment Service office at 3469 Main street, Riverside, will be the central headquarters for receiving orders for workers and for the distribution of the youths to respective employers. Prevailing rates will be paid to these workers, and transportation will be furnished by the employers from the office of the Employment Service to the field and return daily.

The employer is required to obtain a permit to hire youths of school age, and the youths are required to obtain a special permit to work during the school term. These permits must be obtained from school authorities.

The school authorities have agreed wholeheartedly in this attempt to assist in the harvest of perishable crops. It is necessary now for the respective growers to cooperate in this program determining how many workers will be needed and furnishing the U. S. Employment Service at once with the required information as to their needs.

R. E. Hallawell Promoted by S.P.

Appointment of R. E. Hallawell as general superintendent of transportation for Southern Pacific, succeeding the late W. B. Kirkland, has been announced by C. F. Donnat, general manager. Hallawell, assistant superintendent of the railroad's Los Angeles division since early this year, started his service with Southern Pacific as a clerk in 1914.

Announcement was also made of the promotion of Grover C. Baker, assistant superintendent of transportation since 1939, to the newly created position of superintendent of transportation.

Both Relf Boys in Armed Services of Nation, Word Here

Word has been received by friends in Palm Springs from George O. Relf, owner of the El Encanto hotel, now in Santa Barbara managing the El Mirador, that both of the Relf boys are now in the service of their Uncle Sam.

George, Jr., has been ordered to report to the naval training school at Notre Dame university, South Bend, Indiana.

Bill has resigned his position with Lockheed and has taken the physical examination for entry into the navy.

Helen Lindsay Now With Navy

With the closing of El Mirador Hotel, the I. Magnin shop will not be located there as in years past, but there is still a possibility that they may be back in another location.

But one thing is a certainty; if they do come back, pretty Helen Lindsay will not be the manager. Miss Lindsay is giving the next few years to Uncle Sam. She is now a member of THE WAVES.

YOU'RE IN THE ARMY NOW

By. Capt. Herc Ficklen

"It is interesting work—The army is just full of men!"

U. S. O.

By RUTH SUMMERS

Hostesses and officers of the day, yes USO now boasts officers of the day, are diligently striving to uphold the ideals set by Melba Bennett, during her absence from Palm Springs; Melba Bennett finally having departed with her husband, Frank Bennett to take advantage of a short vacation, which a summer rich in accomplishment should render serene. The entire staff of Hospitality House feels the necessity of putting forth a little more effort to compensate for the temporary loss of the warm and charming personality so vividly radiated by its chairman.

Saturday night the third armored force again sent in its virile band, and with girls from Los Angeles, Redlands and Palm Springs the boys from the desert enjoyed a dance session which proved as popular as the previous Saturday. In the absence of the Bennetts, Marjorie Pohl and Lee Kingsbury took over the responsibility of inspiring novelty dances and encouraging anxious but shy men to step forward and claim partners. Although everyone missed Frank Bennett as master of ceremonies, Marjorie and Lee were voted good understudies.

The USO personnel regrets that Muriel Fulton has found it necessary to take an enforced rest, and is looking forward to next week when she will return to her office as hostess of the Saturday night parties, and the other hours which she gives to Hospitality House.

Officers of the desert area are showing increased interest in the facilities which Palm Springs USO offers and are planning more special trips for their men to this Paradise in the desert as one of them named it.

The installation of officers of the day is bringing interesting features to the weekly program. Mrs. Hill on Thursday night is inaugurating informal dancing, and her genial personality is making her very popular with her soldier guests and girls alike. The rug is rolled up and the good phonograph which we are now privileged to use gives forth music unceasingly until the lights are reluctantly dipped.

On Tuesday night Dorothy Flannigan and her assistant, Betty O'Brien, present special features in music, which are in no way impaired by the click of the balls on the pool table, because, of course, whatever happens games are always in progress. Letters are always being written. . . . magazines are always being read. . . . and though it is a little cool at night (miracle of miracles) someone is usually swimming.

Joe Schenck Released From Prison on Parole

Joseph M. Schenck, former movie magnate, sentenced to a year and a day in federal prison for perjury in connection with income tax evasion charges, was freed on parole this week from the Danbury, Conn., prison. He had served four months of his sentence.

Schenck owns a large home on Tamarisk road and spent many winters in Palm Springs.

HERE FOR BRIEF VISIT

William A. Brady, formerly clerk for the American Railway Express company here, now in the army, stationed at Long Beach, was here to visit relatives on a brief furlough early in the week.

HOLIDAY QUIET HERE

Palm Springs spent its Labor Day quietly. Many stores, which had already opened for the season, took the day off, but in the main, residents of the village put in many good licks getting ready for a big winter season.

"I Rise to Remark"

By SENATOR JOHN PHILLIPS

The column rises this week to the tractor, he learns that no more are being made, and there is no understanding among men. He can get no baling wire and no steel cable, and verily a farmer without baling wire is like unto a printer without a ball of white string, or a woman without a hair pin.

His workers go to the army or to the plane and ship plants and when he rises early to do their work, it is said of him, "Even if a farmer intends to loaf, he gets up in time to get an early start."

He reads that State committees and Federal administrations have approved the admission of Mexican labor, and he sees a possibility of harvesting his crops, and then he learns that he must have "suitable housing" and hot and cold showers for men accustomed to living in ramshouses and under conditions acceptable to Bathless Groggins. He longs for the days when the State departments and divisions were interested primarily in the welfare of the State and did not think of themselves as outposts of a "new social order."

He does not understand strikes in industries connected with the war, for Nature allows no strikes in his industry; he works, or else he and the people of the cities do not eat. He does not understand why he should be drawn into the arguments of others with whom he has no connection. He cannot strike for higher wages, and when he asks for priority prices for his wheat, he reads that, "Farmers are the most misrepresented people in America." So he goes on farming.

He wants to build a barn and he can get no lumber because he has no priority rating, but on the way to town he passes a new army camp where the contractor is burning thousands of feet of new lumber, because forsooth, it was only 18 feet long, and the job called for 18 feet six inches. When he builds his house and his barn he pours the cement in forms and then uses the same lumber for the under-construction. He sees the government burn all its forms and use new lumber, but he is told that saving will win the war. His egg crates are burned, because it is a bother to return them, though he would pay 30 cents each to get them back.

He hears a home militia is being formed, as in England, and he takes down his well oiled gun, hoping to get himself a Jap to stuff for over the fireplace, and after much time and effort he is told that, the elections being over, the militia is now disbanded.

The farmer struggles on. The army takes his sons; the industries take his men; the government takes his sacks; and the taxes and the mortgage take his profits. He fights the war; he feeds the armies and the people; he pays the taxes.

But I rise to remark that today, as in the days of Cato, "the agricultural population produces the bravest men, the most valiant soldiers, the class of citizens least given to evil designs."

Hail, the farmer.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

It's not a pleasant picture to contemplate, but War calls for "blood and sweat and tears." And the Army Medical Corps, with its efficient nurses and its volunteer Red Cross "Angels of Mercy," needs thousands of surgical beds for field and base hospitals on every front.

These beds cost approximately $22 each. They are the latest thing in modern hospital beds, with elevating springs. In some instances surgical cots are used in temporary field hospitals and there is a folding bed which may be used in ambulances. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps can buy many of these beds for the Army. You'll sleep better if you know our boys have every hospital comfort. Buy War Bonds every pay day. Invest ten percent of your income.

U. S. Treasury Department

Ten per cent of your income in War Bonds will help to build the planes and tanks that will insure defeat of Hitler and his Axis partners.

Milners Back and Ready to Open 5-10 Store on Saturday

Don and Marie Milner were prepared today for the opening of Milner's 5 and 10-cent store in a new location Saturday with a much larger stock and several new departments.

The new store will occupy the former site of the Palm Springs Date Market, next to the Safeway. The rooms have been enlarged and the sales space doubled by removing partitions. All new fixtures of the latest and most modern type have been installed and fluorescent lighting added.

The Milner's dachshund "Anna" is eager for the season's opening and like Johnny of the cigaret ad "will be waiting for you."

The Milners returned recently from Lake Arrowhead where they spent the summer months. This will be their seventh season in business in Palm Springs.

ferent. . . . It must be tough on the schools, the police, the fire department, the city officers, and others to have to provide for a Village of about 2,000 part of the year and a city of 20,000 the rest of the time. . . . Some places you have to ask whether you can come in without a coat on. Down here, you feel like asking if you can come in WITH a coat on. . . . Did you ever get caught in a spig and span room, a lighted cigar in your hand and no ash tray in sight? That's when cuffs on the trousers came in handy. What do you do now that the government has outlawed cuffs on the pants?

ORDERS are orders. Paratroopers in the maneuvers out on the desert were ordered to raid an "enemy" airport and cut all communication lines. . . . They landed and started hacking. Officers of the captured port protested. They conceded that the port had been captured. Would the invaders please stop? They wouldn't. They had been told to cut the lines and all the brass in the army could go hang. And cut they did. And the sweating, swearing repair crews had plenty to do. . . . One of the leading lights in the maneuvers was Lt. Col. Frank Murphy, on leave from the United States supreme court bench. He was offered a green arm brassard which would signify he was a neutral but turned it down. "No thanks, I'm going to take a real part in this. If I'm captured it's my own tough luck."

PERHAPS the honeymoon is over. For the first time since eastern boys started coming to California last December attired in the army uniform, did I hear a complaint. An Indiana boy said he liked California fine but our peaches weren't as good as the kind he got at home. He made it plain, however, that he wasn't referring to the girls. . . . There is one good thing to be said about Adolfus Hitler. He has provided a simile for dog poisoners. Writers have for years pondered over something mean enough to say about those people who toss out poisoned meat for pets—and small children—to eat. They've fumed and frothed seeking a comparison odious enough. But that's all past. Now they can just say a pet poisoner is lower than Hitler. . . . If such a thing is possible. . . . And did you see the crack Tom Treanor took at us in the Times? Describing a bombing raid in the Near East he said it didn't cause as much excitement as a rain storm in Palm Springs.

2 Soldiers Have Narrow Escape in Automobile Crash

Two soldiers from Freda, desert army post, had a narrow escape from injury at 2:30 a. m. Tuesday when their automobile ran off State Highway 111 at Windy Point after the driver, Sgt. Thomas S. Klouda, was blinded by the lights of an approaching automobile. Corporal Joseph A. Wicorek was riding with Sgt. Klouda.

Although the automobile was badly wrecked, neither of the two soldiers suffered injury, a check at the Torney General Hospital here revealed.

Following examination they were discharged from the hospital and sent back to camp.

Officer Bill Lux investigated the accident until State Motor Patrol Officer Henderson of Banning, arrived.

SANTA ANA, Calif.—Aviation Cadet Ralph Leonard Simms of the Santa Ana Army Air Base is very fond of apple pie. But when the obstacle of the mails proved too great a hurdle, his mother in Attleboro, Massachusetts, solved the problem.

Mrs. Simms, president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Attleboro American Legion post, wrote the Santa Ana Auxiliary and asked some member to bake a pie for her son. Mrs. George Canfield, president of the Santa Ana unit, today delivered the pie to Cadet Simms in his barracks, as the accompanying picture shows.

Man, Reported Killed in War, Returns
To Find His Wife Married to Another

A woman, who has made her home in Banning for the past several months, was abashed last Wednesday to have her first husband, whom she thought was dead, appear at the place where she was employed—six weeks after she had married a local man.

The woman, whose name is for obvious reasons withheld, was working at a Banning restaurant near the noon hour when in walked the husband, reported killed during the bombing of Pearl Harbor, December 7. She was so overcome at the sight of her husband that she could not continue working, and he took her outside with him to regain her composure.

When she came to Banning, the unfortunate woman was grieving for the husband whom she thought had died a hero's death. Then she met a local man who fell in love with her, and they were married, not knowing that she was not free to marry again.

MOMENT'S REBELLION

Bacon, prunes, spinach, liver;
Isn't it enough to make you shiver—
What does it get you, being good,
Making lists of vitamin food?

Mangoes, guavas, white wine, pheasant,
Ah, this indeed, is strictly pleasant—
Ferns and orchids tricking the table
Tell the truth, who wouldn't be able
To eat the way they do in books?

Morning toast burned to a crust,
Living room with a film of dust;
Who wouldn't want to turn and run
Leaving tiresome tasks undone?

Women in novels have great fun
In sheltered gardens out of the sun;
Faultlessly dressed, a fashion chart,
Blandishments a finished art.

Without mangoes, caviar and pheasants,
Stripped of these, still life enchants—
Though mine may be as plain as rain
I prefer it to stories of Spain.

Edith Holmes Fredericks.

OUR VALLEYS OF DECISION
By Louis Bromfield

"This is a new kind of war, a war for which we have as yet been unable even to find a name. It marks a turning point in world history, the most enveloping and decisive turning point there has ever been, because for the first time in the world's history the entire world is involved and because the decision involves the whole future of civilization.

"The future of civilization is a vague and tremendous and oratorical phrase. Interpreted and broken down, it means the freedom of yourself and myself, whether we shall be allowed to live in a decent fashion, enjoying liberty and prosperity and human dignity, involving the future of the very house we live in, the happiness and well-being of our children, the opportunities of young people and all the comfort and security of the old. It affects how we shall worship God, and how and whether we can live in decency with our neighbors. We can help, all of us, by fighting, by working, by keeping our courage high. We can help too, enormously, by lending to ourselves the money which is necessary to win this war, by testifying to our confidence in our own country, our own battle. War Bonds and War Stamps are weapons exactly as tanks and guns are weapons. Buy now, not tomorrow or next day, but now—to save what God gave us and what we have fought for since our country became a Nation."

Desert Maneuvers Demonstrate
Value of One-Two Ground-Air Punch

The terrific punching power of co-ordinated ground-air warfare has been tested in all its phases and has been proven as the greatest possible striking force against any enemy, officers disclosed today in reviewing the second phase of the desert training maneuvers to the east of Palm Springs.

Continuously drilled in the teamwork necessary for successful operation, Air Force pilots and ground troops comprising armored and mechanized units proved in the second phase of the maneuver that with such a carefully planned program as was executed by the Red and Blue armies the results were so far superior to previous methods of operation as to be beyond comparison.

DIRECTOR SEES WAR

Major General Alvan C. Gilem Jr., maneuver director, who stressed to officers at a critique the necessity of complete co-ordination of the two arms for the lightning conclusion of specific missions, witnessed the various parts of the program in the 51-hour continuous test and put the stamp of approval on the operations.

He saw Army transport planes, winging their way over treacherous territory to deliver 100 tons of freight to troops on the forward lines, complete the mission in an hour and a half covering a distance greater than that from England to France.

COMMUNICATIONS O. K.

Successful operation of the communications system—without which no Army can long exist—was one of the essential elements in the transfer of the materiel. Time was saved for troops who continued to hold their positions while ammunition was flown to them. Vehicles being utilized in the action were enabled to con-

El Paseo Building
Stores Preparing For Active Season

Activity is brisk at the El Paseo building, owned and managed by Harold J. Hicks.

Ben Cox returned Tuesday from Blue Jay, in the San Bernardino mountains, where he has been operating the Blue Jay drug store, and is preparing the El Paseo Pharmacy for the season's opening next Monday.

It is his fifth season there. Mrs. Cox is now in Los Angeles and will return to Palm Springs in a week or so.

George Dennis is in charge of the fountain at the pharmacy again this year and will reopen this popular spot on Monday, too. The first of his famous chicken dinners will be served next Wednesday night.

The El Paseo Beauty Shop has been open all summer under the management of Luella Sanders.

No decision has been made as yet on the grocery store which was the property of the late Charles N. Bosworth.

Walter Z. Allen Busy
Preparing for Season

Walter Z. Allen, prominent Palm Springs real estate man, and manager for the properties of the Palm Springs corporation, has been busy the last two weeks getting the cottages of Colburn Court and other Colburn rooms and apartments ready for the season.

Colburn Court was opened this week.

Mr. Allen has many rooms and apartments now ready for rentals.

against the Red troops who were handicapped by not having the tremendous air power of the Blues.

It was the story again of the one-two punch. And it was a one-two punch that was working, proving again that co-ordination has been the result of the streamlined Army program. The Army has tested its air-ground power play the hard way under the toughest possible circumstances. And it has learned that it has a power play that works.
